THE menace of this newest Bryanism is not to science or education. It is to religion. Science is safe, and education will take care of itself. But organized religion could not hold its place in modern life if it proclaimed that acceptance of it involves repudiation of everything else that modern man has learned. It would retreat to the intellectual backwaters, where knowledge has not penetrated, and the educated would be left to find satisfaction of the religious instinct outside the church, if at all. The forces of reaction, even if they cannot monopolize religion, might conceivably seize custody of its traditional institutions and established equipment.

This is doubtless the reason why so many clergymen are springing to the defense of knowledge assailed in the ostensible name of religion. They may be no more interested than other citizens in schools and laboratories, but they are vitally concerned for the church. They might, for the sake of peace, keep silent while fundamentalism remained a mere faction, quietly cherishing its ignorance. But when it becomes militant, demanding the ejection of all others, there is nothing to do but resist or surrender. For the survival of the church, the enlightened clergy are resisting.

Independent Candidate for Presidency at Last Election Heart Attack Victim

20 YEARS IN SENATE

Notable Wisconsin Man Expires After Long Career In Nation's Political Life

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Robert Marion LaFollette is dead. "Fighting Bob," for 20 years U.S. senator from Wisconsin, staunch defender of what he believed was the popular will and independent presidential candidate last year, passed on at his home here at 1:21 p.m., today.

A gradual weakening of the heart muscles induced by a siege of bronchial asthma brought the end. He was 70 years of age last Sunday.

For the last two weeks he had been confined to his bed with a cold which he contracted during the recent sudden weather changes here. Passing his 70th birthday anniversary Sunday, it seemed that he might be able to throw off the attack, but his frail physique had been so weakened by continuous illness for the last two years that he soon afterward took turn for the worse.

Physicians Are Powerless

His family had been forewarned by attending physicians, who could do little to fight off the combined attack of age and disease.

Death came peacefully and quietly with his wife and children at the bedside.

La Follette lapsed into unconsciousness about half an hour before his death, but just moment before his spirit took flight, he tried to rouse himself. It seemed to those of his family around his death bed as though he were trying to say something—communicating some last message or ask for something or someone.

But the effort proved fruitless. Too little strength was left in the body to voice the words.

That the senator knew death was upon him at least two weeks ago, was disclosed by one of his family today.

Small children were playing noisily under his window as he lay in bed with the cold that ultimately brought his death.

"A life is a wonderful thing, I'd like to begin it all over again," he said, "but I think I have earned a long-needed vacation."

At Peace With World

"I am at peace with all the world, but there is a lot of work I could still do; I don't know how the people feel toward me, but I shall take to the grave my love for them that has sustained me through life."

These were the last words of Senator La Follette, spoken to his son, Robert Jr., last night, when the senator knew death was but a temporary stay. His son tried to convince him that his illness was only temporary, but the senator said he knew death was near.

Starting life in a log cabin of a Wisconsin farm, and fighting his way through most state offices there to the senate of the United States, LaFollette reached the climax of his career when he entered the presidential campaign last year and polled five million votes against President Coolidge and John W. Davis, Democratic nominee.

Instigator of the sensational Teapot Dome investigation, LaFollette is expected to read his decision in the Teapot Dome case tomorrow. Special Government Prosecutors Atlee Pomerene and Owen T. Roberts and attorneys for Harry F. Sinclair's Mammoth Oil company, have been notified to be present for the reading of the decision at 10 a.m.

The announcement was made with the statement that the information had already "leaked" out, but that the nature of the decision was still to be known.

MAN IS KILLED FURNITURE MEN BY BANDITS ON CONFESS GUILT PIER AT VENICE AND PAY FINES

(By United Press)

VENICE, June 18.—James E. Daniels, 50, Los Angeles, was found shot to death on Sunset pier, here today, apparently the victim of robbers.

A bullet wound in the chest, and another in the right hand, indicated Daniels had put up a fight with his assailants before he was slain.

The body was slumped against an abandoned boathouse, as though it had been thrown there hurriedly after being dragged from some other place to the pier.

Nearby was the dead man's wallet, stripped of its contents. Scattered on the pier were 30 cents and a few papers. The papers enabled police to identify the victim.

Police believe the slayers had intended to throw the body into the ocean, but were alarmed by the approach of a pedestrian and hurriedly left the scene.

CHICAGO, June 18.—Fines ranging from $1000 to $5000 were imposed here today by Federal Judge Adam C. Cliffe, on 49 chair manufacturers, who pleaded guilty to indictments charging violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The chair companies are one of three groups of furniture makers indicted by the federal grand jury for alleged conspiracy to keep up furniture prices and stifle competition.

Roger Shale, special federal prosecutor, said that the firms were fined the varying amounts from $1000 to $5000 according to the relative amount of business done by the companies, and according to their financial standings.

FIND FOSSILIZED BONES

YUMA, Ariz., June 18.—Fossilized bones of a gigantic elephant have been uncovered on Wellton mesa, near here. Scientists who studied the remains said the beast probably roamed the country during the Pleistocene era, and was of a species that became extinct 500,000 years ago.

Continue Search For Jail Patient

LOS ANGELES, June 18.—Search was continued today for John W. Worthington, "Wolf or LaSalle street," who disappeared from the jail ward of Glendale Sanitarium a week ago.

Officers now believe the man was feigning illness and made use of his first opportunity to escape.

He was convicted in Chicago, in 1923, of using the mails to defraud, and is under sentence of three years in federal prison.

Authorities suspended sentence to permit him to "die" in the California hospital.

Why the City of Santa Ana Should Vote for the Water Bonds

By C. H. CHAPMAN

Water Commissioner on City Council

Santa Ana is a growing city. We know it is going to continue to grow. We know that the present municipal plant is inadequate, and we know that pumping of water direct to the main under pressure is expensive.

The system proposed under the bond issue, to be voted on Tuesday, is designed to provide gravity water to a certain extent and to provide water and facilities to take care of the demands when Santa Ana becomes a city of 100,000 to 150,000 population.

After careful consideration of the report of J. B. Lipincott, hydraulic engineer, and with the personal knowledge I have of the water situation here, I think it would be a serious mistake to defeat the bonds and thereby defeat the project.

Those who look upon the issue with disfavor should think carefully before they cast a vote against the bonds. Those who are opposed because they think the location of the wells at West Orange and the reservoir site at Olive is an error, should realize that the general plan has been developed by a competent engineer, and by men who have given the situation serious consideration for a number of years.

Possible water conservation and development in the Santa Ana river, and the possible bringing in of water from the Colorado river, were taken into consideration in laying out the proposed system.

Those who believe in a greater and safer Santa Ana will not oppose the project.

Whale Industry
Ruined
By Flappers

LOS ANGELES, June 18.—American flappers have ruined the whale-catching industry, according to Lars Thorson, head of a Norwegian whaling syndicate.

Since the American girls have juked their corsets and abandoned their waistlines the demand for whalebone is virtually nil, the Viking declared when he sailed into the local port with a cargo of whale oil, but no jaw-bones.

"Millions of perfectly good whalebones are thrown overboard annually," Thor-son said.

But worst of all, the whole-catcher added, the Nordic girls of the Scandinavian countries are remodeling their figures on the American plan.

(By United Press)

CHICAGO, June 18.—"Dr." Charles C. Fairman, star witness for the state in its efforts to prove that William D. Shepherd murdered Billy McClintock, testified today that Shepherd promised him $100,000 for his help in poisoning young McClintock with typhoid germs.

"I told him I thought I should be protected, and that if he was going to get Billy's $1,000,000 estate, I should get a fourth of it—$250,000," Fairman told the jury which is to decide Shepherd's fate.

Shepherd laughed and tried to pass it off, and so I insisted on $200,000 at least. He laughed some more and we finally agreed on $100,000."

Talks In Low Tones

Fairman spoke slowly in low tones, his words barely reaching the jury box.

Shepherd, who hotly denies Fairman's entire story, sat almost directly before him and eyed him sharply at important points.

Fairman was called as court's witness because State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe refused to vouch for him, but Crowe counted on Fairman to "clinch" his case against Shepherd.

"The first time I saw Shepherd," Fairman testified, "he came out to my hospital and school. He wanted to know if I could teach him criminal bacteriology.

"I told him I could, but he wanted to see my laboratory first and find out what sort of equipment I had. I took him all over my school and showed him my slides and all my apparatus.

Wanted to See Bacteria

"Shepherd said he wanted to see some bacteria and I showed him some on a slide. He left them, saying he would come back the following day."

Fairman looked directly at the jury, speaking in low, earnest tones. He went right along with his story, telling step by step of his dealings with Shepherd.

"When Shepherd returned," Fairman continued, "he showed particular interest in typhoid and tuberculosis germs.

"He wanted to know how typhoid germs could be injected into the human body, so that a person would come down with the fever. I told him they could be given the patient in his food or water—preferably water.

"Then he asked whether injection of typhoid germs in the human body could be detected in post-mortem examination. I told him it was almost impossible."

Shepherd did not turn his eyes from the man who was accusing him. He sat erect, straining his neck to catch every movement that the witness made. Shepherd complained to the court through his attorneys that he could scarcely hear Fairman's testimony. Judge

Cliffie was to be the first case of death by lynch law in California.

YUMA LIBEL JURY

FAILS TO AGREE

YUMA, Ariz., June 18.—The jury in the case of George W. Lynn, editor accused of criminal libel, failed to agree on a verdict and was discharged today, at 10:30 a.m.

The jurors stood seven to five for acquittal, after deliberating approximately 16 hours.

Judge Elmo Bollinger indicated he would order a retrial.

Lynn was accused of criminal libel by E. F. Sanguineti, millionaire sheriff.

The trial was based on charges made in the Yuma Evening Herald that the millionaire plaintiff had sold "doctor's milk" from his dairy.

The defense sought to prove its editorial accusations were true, while the prosecution contended there was malice behind the newspaper attacks.

Long Beach Hostess Entertains at Inn

An out-of-town hostess, Mrs. C. Henry of Long Beach, chose to entertain in this city yesterday, when she sponsored a very charming luncheon and bridge amidst the quietly lovely surroundings of St. Ann's Inn.

Mrs. Henry's guests were from the neighboring beach city as well as from various eastern points. Her arrangements included luncheon served in the dining-room at tables laden with colorful blossoms after which she led her guests to the spacious lobby where card tables decked in quaint covers, were awaiting them.

Mrs. Henry's guests included Mrs. Harry Henry of Milwaukee; Mrs. S. P. Long, San Francisco; Mrs. McLellan, Sheridan, Wyo.; Mrs. Fred Taylor, Peoria, Ill., and a group of Long Beach friends, Mesdames Teagarden, Nelson McCook, William Roff, Frank Stanton, Ralph Taylor, Joseph Reddick, Albert Felt, Earl Miller, C. E. Earnest, Joseph Reifsteck, George Kendall, Mary West, Myron Le Sourd, Charles Church, Miss Grace Richardson, Miss Hazel Graves, Miss W. A. Elliott and Miss Bradfield.

CHURCH SOCIETIESPhilathea Class

Another of their pleasant parties was enjoyed recently by Philatheans of the First Baptist church, meeting with Mrs. J. P. Williams of 1110 Spurgeon street to honor a well-loved member, Miss Jennie Lasby just prior to her departure for an European trip. Miss Lasby as honor guest was presented with a pretty gift in appreciation of her unceasing interest in the class. It was with keen regret that the members learned that their teacher, Mrs. M. M. Holmes who has been associated with them for practically eleven years, had offered her resignation. The class voted to offer her a year's leave of absence instead and tendered her a handsome basket of flowers.

Mrs. J. P. Gardner as chairman of the entertainment committee, had provided a pleasant evening with games and contests along floral lines, harmonizing the entertainment with the lovely dahlias and sweet peas which graced the home. At a late hour the committee served refreshments to the guests who numbered nearly half a hundred.

Japanese Tea

Eloquent of the Land of the Cherry Blossom will be the pleasant tea to be presented by the young Standard Bearers of the First M. E. church Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when the church parlors will be given a truly Japanese aspect. The pretty maid serving will all be in Japanese costume and all women of the church are asked to attend and aid the Standard Bearers by a special offering, in continuing their mission.

Foreign Missionary

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the First M. E. church met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Horton Palmer presiding and the opening devotional service conducted by Mrs. Schick whose subject was "The Joy of Service."

Three special pieces of work carried on by the Auxiliary are the missionary's assistant—in Ajmere, India, a scholarship in Kolar, India, and a Bible woman in Yenping, China. Mrs. Finn, the corresponding secretary read personal letters from Master Orr, the missionary's assistant, from the Bible woman and the missionary in whose school the auxiliary scholarship is. Mrs. Brandenburg supplemented these letters by telling the amount each one requires. A number of Standard Bearers were present and representing them.

Justin Palmer extended to all an invitation to attend a Japanese tea in the church parlor Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. They support through their blessing boxes a girl in India and through this tea expect to augment their resources for this purpose. A good program is prepared and a good time is assured.

Mrs. Brandenburg gave an excellent lesson on the subject of "Burden of Peru" where no provision is made for education, where great riches are as much a burden as the burden of poverty and where the rich do not spend their riches for poor people. She spoke of superstition in treatment of disease as being great as in the Orient. Ten years ago Peru was granted religious freedom. There is only one Protestant preacher for every 250,000 inhabitants. Their burden is spiritual hunger.

Three members of the auxiliary, Mrs. Allie Fitz, Miss Jessie Miller and Mrs. W. C. Baker attended the International School of Missions at Los Angeles which was held for five days the first week of June. Each delegate gave spendid reports of these meetings, bringing inspiration and enthusiasm and knowledge which will be helpful during the coming year. The dramatization numbers used at the School of Missions will be used at the auxiliary meetings. Mrs. Will A. Betts, wife of the pastor, very feelingly sang a beautiful solo, "I Would Ever Follow Thee" with Mrs. W. B. Snow playing the accompaniment.

THE STRAIGHT-BACK SACK

Among the editors of funny papers the venerable tradition prevails that there are—count 'em—only Seven Original Jokes. These include the tramp joke; the barnstorming actor joke; the mother-in-law joke; the man-kicked-by-a-mule joke; the boy-in-the-jam-closet joke; the cook-and-the-police-joke; and the "does-oo-love-oo-tootsy-wootsy" joke about the engaged couple.

Similarly and turning from humor to the serious subject of style, there is but a strictly limited number of effects which may be applied to men's clothes. Your suit must be single-breasted or double. It cannot be anything else.
Your coat must be close-fitting,
medium-fitting or loose-fitting.
It cannot be anything else.
Your suit must consist of jacket, waistcoat and trousers.
There is nothing else. My Lady Fayre may rob the rainbow and plunder the periods of art to enrich her form and enrich her grace, but mere man is held down to elementals, which never change.

The 2-button, single-breasted suit, portrayed in the accompa-
back facing you to emphasize its salient feature—the loose, straight, semi-box effect as distinguished from the figure-tracing types of garments more generally worn.
Such a coat is procurable with either flap or patch pockets and quarter-lined or full pocketed. The length is about 30 inches. This is an English style that looks very well on the tall, slender chap who needs an appearance of breadth to fill him out.
It should, however, be avoided by the man inclined to be thickset or corpulent.

W. S. Gilbert, the librettist, wrote scorchingly of "the idiot who praises with enthusiastic tone, all centuries but this and every country but his own." So, perhaps, the American fashion commentator who chronicles English styles should be condemned, waxing Gilbertian again,
"to sit in solemn silence in a dull, dark dock; In a pestilential prison with a lifelong lock." Nevertheless, truth crushed to earth shall rise again, no matter who sits upon its chest.

A fact is like a birthmark—you may cover it up, but you cannot rub it out. Thus, our acceptance, undenied and undeniable, of some English styles that are worthy is no more to our reproach than for us to admit that English is more purely spoken in England.
True style is not national, but international. It borrows from all the world, just as it lends to all the world. American fit and tailorwork are now the admiration of Europe. Soon we will also exist in style.

EVEN the greenest fruits and those you never could be sure of now will keep their flavor longer. Just add Certo. It supplies the natural substance fruit must have to make a jelly.

Some fruits never have this jelling property; in all fruits it varies and grows less as the fruit ripens. That is why you never could be sure of your jam and jelly before and you could not use the ripe fruit even though you knew it had the finest flavor and color.

But now-a-days use Certo—it jellies every time. And just boil

SCHOOL BOARD APPOINTMENTS ARE ANNOUNCED

R. P. Mitchell, county superintendent of schools, announced today that he will appoint Homer E. Lewis and Miss Kate E. Rea as members of the Anaheim school board, filling vacancies created by the resignation of E. H. Metcalf and George Sloop. The new members will take office on July 1, it was added.

It was also announced that Melville A. Gauer, assistant superintendent of schools in Ontario, has been elected superintendent of the Anaheim school district, taking the place of C. C. Smith, resigned.

Homer E. Lewis is manager of the J. C. Penney stores in Anaheim, and well known in business and club circles of that city. He is a strong advocate of the public school system and believes that more attention should be given to vocational training. Miss Rea is a former high school teacher, having taught in the Santa Ana high school for a number of years. For the past few years she has been actively identified with educational and child welfare activities and is a strong supporter of the P.T.A. movement.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18.—A guest entered the Grand Southern hotel and registered. Joseph Astruc, clerk, showed the arrival to a room.

As he turned with an "is there anything else, sir?" Astruc found himself facing a revolver.

Relieving the clerk of $25, the guest departed hurriedly.

Astruc rushed down to look at the register.

"U. R. Stung," was the last name inscribed.

Torrens Land Title Law Is Imperfect and Impractical, Says Attorney Horace Head

Santa Ana, June 18, 1925. Editor Register: Henry J. Weeks has recently published a communication in The Register advocating the so-called Torrens title law. He charges the title companies with discouraging that law and making deals under it difficult. That charge is false, at least so far as Orange county title companies are concerned.

Knowing that their motives would very likely be misconstrued, our title companies have carefully refrained from commenting on this California (Torrens) land title law. In that I think they have been wrong, for even at the risk of unjust criticism they should have informed the public what a snare and delusion and unsatisfactory thing that law is in practice. Had they done so, many of our citizens would have been saved from being victimized by the smooth talking cappers of the Torrens title shysters who have gone about persuading the uninformed to pay out money in order to exchange a perfectly good title for an undesirable, unsatisfactory and generally imperfect Torrens title. I say "generally imperfect"—for the reason that a very large percentage of the Torrens title registration proceedings put through our courts are found to be grossly defective; and if by rare chance the registration proceeding was correct, defects are almost sure to creep into the title after a few transfers have been made. Did space permit, I could cite many such cases which have come to my attention.

My personal experience convinces me that a majority of those holding Torrens titles would gladly go back to the good old record title, backed by a reliable certificate, if they could; but that land title is a trap, providing easy entrance, but no way to get out. The last legislature attempted to remedy this defect, and if the way out has been provided there will soon be a decided movement back to sanity and safety by Torrens title holders. The fact is that this California land law is in practice a reversion to the out-worn abstract of title system, under which the holder of the title must hire an expert to examine it and tell him what it means.

Mr. Weeks says placing all land under Torrens title would put the title companies out of business. On the contrary, those companies would have more business than ever explaining his title to the puzzled land owner and helping him out of the tangles into which he would fall. As to the Torrens system doing away with the need of escrows in the handling and closing of land deals, such a statement is silly.

Mr. Weeks seems to have his eye on the million and a half dollars which he says it will cost to register Orange county property under the Torrens system, and no doubt will soon have his agents out on the highways and by-ways drumming up victims by the usual methods of such gentry. The title companies have nothing to fear from his activities, but the people of Orange county have. My advice to those people is to turn a deaf ear to Mr. Weeks and his kind; and if my advice is doubted,

Mrs. Ashcroft's Remarkable Recovery After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Covington, Ky.—"I was so weak and nervous I could hardly do my housework as I could not stand because of the bearing-down pains in my back and abdomen. I sat down most of the time and did what I could do in that way—washing dishes, etc. One day a book describing Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines was put in my mail box. I saw how the Vegetable Compound had helped others so I gave it a trial. I had to take about a dozen bottles before I gained my strength but I certainly praise this medicine. Then I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood medicine for poor blood. I was cold all the time. I would be so cold I could hardly sit still and in the palms of my hands there would be drops of sweat. I also used the Sanative Wash and I recommend it also. You may publish this letter and I will gladly answer letters from women and advise my neighbors about these medicines."—Mrs. HARRY ASHCROFT, 632 Beech Avenue, Covington, Kentucky.

Riverside Chosen For Cox-Mateer Wedding Of Yesterday

The hosts of friends of Miss Alice Mateer and her fiance, Minor Cox, who have followed their romance since high school days, were eager today for details of the quiet wedding of the young people yesterday morning at Riverside. Since the formal announcement of the betrothal, made at a tea of smart appointments at the Santa Ana Country club in mid-May, Miss Mateer has been the motif for a succession of engagement festivities, but chose to have her marriage one of extreme simplicity.

Accompanied only by Mrs. E. T. Mateer and Mr. and Mrs. Amos N. Cox, their parents, and their clergyman, the Rev. W. H. McPeak, the young people motored to the Mission Inn city yesterday morning and at 11 o'clock voiced their wedding vows in the parlors of the United Presbyterian church, the Rev. Mr. McPeak, pastor of the United Presbyterian church of this city, reading the impressive ceremony. Mr. Mateer gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Mateer wore an ensemble costume in soft tan shades with harmonizing accessories. Immediately after the rites, the party repaired to Glenwood Mission Inn where a charmingly appointed table was reserved for the wedding breakfast. While the parental group returned to this city, young Mr. and Mrs. Cox continued on their way to Big Bear where the honeymoon will be spent.

MODART CORSETS

Good Lines Are Always in Good Standing

Your figure may either have the lines it takes of its own free will or it may take the lines you see fit to give it. Modart puts proper lines into their "Figure-Grooming" garments. When you put on the proper Modart your figure is persuaded away from the lines it tends to take and into the lines that Modart "Figure-Grooming" gives it. This does not mean a heavy garment; it does not mean discomfort; it means the proper study and perpetual watching and coaxing. Our corsetiere explains the art of "Figure-Grooming." She will study your figure and advise you the proper Modart to wear. "Figure-Grooming" is a part of our service and is offered without obligation.

ONLY 12 BAND CONTRIBUTIONS ADDED TO FUND

Farm News

A hen owned by the Block Poultry ranch at Costa Mesa and entered in the annual egg laying contest at Pomona, had the third highest production during May, laying a total of 30 eggs, according to figures released today by the contest organization. The other two hens each laid 31 eggs.

The figures also show that one of Block's birds has laid a total of 165 eggs since the contest opened Nov. 1, 1924, placing her eleventh in the list. Since there are 455 hens entered in the contest, this is considered quite a record. The high bird for the period, owned by George C. Englund of Inglewood, has laid 185 eggs up to last night stood at $488.15. The donations yesterday amounted to $127.

"Save the Band week" is failing. This sad fact was driven home today with announcement by Harry Hanson, treasurer of the Santa Ana Municipal Band Campaign association, that only 12 persons yesterday contributed to the fund, and that the total subscribed amount up to last night stood at $488.15. The donations yesterday amounted to $127.

The situation is discouraging, and unless there is a more generous response to the appeal for funds, Santa Ana will wake up in a few days and find that it has no band," Hanson said.

"If the people of Santa Ana are not sufficiently interested in maintaining the band to give a few dollars to its support, they cannot expect the musicians composing the organization to continue giving their services and paying their own expenses."

Attention was directed today to the fact that the concert to be given by the band tonight in Birch Park will start at 7:30 o'clock instead of 8 o'clock. D. C. Cianfoni, director, today said that the program would start at the earlier hour so as not to keep persons attending out late. The evenings still are a little cool, the director pointed out.

The concert is complimentary to the public and no attempt will be made to collect funds. This assurance is given by Clyde Downing, president of the association.

CLAIM DENTIST SLAYER KILLED TWO PATIENTS

LOS ANGELES, June 18.—Dr. Thomas W. Young, dental-gas slayer, killed at least two other persons in the same scientific fashion he disposed of his wife, Mrs. Grace Young, it was charged today by district attorneys.

The prosecutors made the startling claim that they had evidence to the effect that the dentist made a death test with somnoform on one of his patients at Santa Barbara nearly six years ago. It was also claimed the wife-slayer gave an overdose of the deadly dental gas to Elmer E. Mellette, former deputy city attorney, who died several weeks ago after a tooth extraction.

It was somnoform which Dr. Young said he used to strangle his wife to death on the night of February 21, before he buried her body in a concrete vault constructed in his cabin in Beverly Glen.

Make Death Tests

"I have proof that Dr. Young made death tests with somnoform before he killed his wife," declared District Attorney Asa Keyes.

"In fact, this fiendish killer had openly boasted of his ability in producing death with the powerful anesthetic. I have a witness who heard Dr. Young claim he could kill a person in 30 seconds with the poison gas."

Coroners records at Santa Barbara reveal that Joseph Barabecchia died in Dr. Young's office Sept. 18, 1919, after the dentist had extracted 16 teeth from the patient. The coroner's verdict was: "Death caused from shock from extraction of teeth and chronic disease of heart and nervous shock to system."

A son-in-law of the patient testified at the inquest that "he took something to prevent pain—I don't know what it was."

Dr. Young's prosecutors believe he used somnoform on both Barabecchia and Mellette. The latter's widow had a $50,000 damage suit prepared for filing today against the murderer.

Tried To Poison "Pat"

Miss Leopold, who professes a maternal affection for "Pat" Grogan, 18-year-old son and heir of the slain woman, voluntarily told investigators she believed Dr. Young had attempted to poison the lad.

Young Grogan was taken seriously ill shortly after his step-father had extracted a tooth. Mrs. Young nursed the boy back to health shortly before she was murdered.

Dr. Young had been taking samples of poison infection cases that came to his office," the girl said. "Pat came to have a tooth filled and I believe Dr. Young may have injected some of the poisonous germs he was experimenting with. Pat became seriously ill, and Dr. Young said it was only a case of mumps."

Efforts to involve Miss Leopold in the strange murder case have been met with hottest denials from both the girl and District Attorney Asa Keyes.

Keyes is counting on this willowy slip of a girl to help send Dr. Young to the gallows.

She had admitted spending the night at the cabin of Dr. Young in Beverly Glen, where the dentist staged dances over the cement cistern in which he had buried his wife. But she maintained her mother had been with her on every occasion.

Affection for Grogan

She claims a powerful affection for Young Grogan, who was taught to call her "mother" but insists their friendship was purely platonic.

She admits wearing the two and a half carat diamond ring which Dr. Young stripped from his dead wife's finger.

"Who wouldn't wear a ring like this that was laying around the office?" she said. "I wore it to keep it from getting lost. I believe in taking care of an office I am responsible for."

Dr. Young will be arraigned tomorrow before Superior Judge Edwin F. Hahn. His attorneys will move to quash the murder indictment on technical grounds. The state will demand an early trial.

When Young's case is taken into court, he will repudiate his confession, claiming it was obtained while he was under the influence of intoxicants. He plans to plead that his wife's death was accidental, and that, in a drunken stupor, he imagined he had murdered her and then sought to cover up the crime.

It was during the days of decrepit horse cars on rickety tramways that Youngs came to Los Angeles.

In those days Youngs was but a family name—typical American family that, with the true spirit of the pioneer, left the thousand-acre stock ranch in Kansas for the golden opportunities conjured up by the magic word, "California."

There were five boys in the Young family. Familiar as they were with produce and stock raising it was natural that they should see opportunity in service to man's primal need of food. So the two elder boys, John and Peter, just out of their 'teens, started the business in 1888.

And as boys dream, the five Young boys dreamed—of the day when the name "Young's" should stand over the doorway of the finest food supply house in the whole wide world.

Year by year the enterprise grew. One by one as the three brothers, Will, George and Charles, reached manhood, they became a part of the business.

Year by year the vision grew more real, until today—after thirty-seven years—that, while it has paid an average net profit of less than 1 cent per sale, has grown to vast volume, that youthful vision has taken form as reality in Young's Million Dollar Central Administration Building at Seventh Street and Union Avenue, Los Angeles.

The responsibility of supplying the food needs of its community is a trust of public service not to be regarded lightly.

For proper food determines the physical well being of a community, and physical well being is essential to development to both individual and communal progress.

Young's leadership as food purveyors has been built upon a full acceptance of this responsibility—reflected in a policy of furnishing the finest foods on narrow margins of profit, and since the limit of service is never reached, it is natural that each year has seen a widening of the boundary lines of Young's.

It costs a food purveyor money to supply the best, yet surely nowhere is the best more needed than in food! And Young's have always lived up to the ideal of supplying Southern California homes with the very finest food that could be obtained.

To safeguard such small profits has demanded efficient management only through a course where every penny is strictly accounted for could success have been built.

Public confidence in Young's has grown stronger year by year as a result of this policy of finest foods at fair prices.

Public confidence in Young's has manifested itself in increased business until at present you will find fifty-three stores operating in Southern California, which is material evidence of success built upon small profits, fair dealings and efficient management.

Enjoying such public confidence and with the ideal of the past always before us, "That of supplying the Southern California homes with the very finest food that can be obtained, we are glad to announce the opening of our first market in Santa Ana, dedicated to Quality, Courtesy, Service and the best meats at a fair price. CLOAK OF RESTRAINT THROWN TO FOUR WINDS AS KIWANIAN FROLIC AT CANNERY MEETING

Kiwanians yesterday turned their usual weekly meeting into a frolic and at the Taylor cannery held one of the liveliest sessions the club has had in a number of months. Staid business men seemingly threw restraint to the winds and indulged in more or less frivolous actions, the fun starting when a greater portion of the membership boarded trucks at the corner of First and Main streets and was transported to the scene of the daily activities of Fred Taylor, one of the popular members of the club.

An air of freedom also dominated President George Wells, and during the session he levied fines here and there for various alleged offenses committed by members.

With the meeting devoted to Flag day ceremonies, S. C. Hartranft of Fullerton, assemblyman from this district, delivered what was declared by Chairman Taylor to have been one of the best addresses presented before the club in recent months. Tribute was paid both the service clubs and the flag.

Tables Are On

Tables were located on the lawn of the Taylor home, and near the office of the cannery, with a canvas overhead to protect the diners from the elements. An impressive feature of the opening of the club session was the raising of the colors to the top of the large flagpole in the yard, as the club sang "America." Miss Marguerite Taylor, daughter of the host, raised the colors slowly as the clubmen joined in singing the song. Small flags were placed at each plate.

Declaring that the influence of service clubs dominates communities in which they are located, Hartranft said that, if the clubs were discontinued and their influence removed from the communities, the communities then would better realize and appreciate their value.

"The ideals clubs bring forth in working for the betterment of their communities are more highly appreciated than members themselves realize," the speaker said.

In paying tribute to the flag, the assemblyman said it was the third oldest among nations and that for 148 years it had been the ensign of this republic, standing for the highest ideals and for the highest honor.

Ideals of Free People

Referring briefly to the various wars in which the United States had been involved, the speaker pointed out that the emblem had always floated at the head of forces that were fighting for the ideals of a free people. He commented on the loyalty of the American people to the colors, their pride in maintaining the flag unsullied, and declared it to be the duty of every good citizen to give to the constitution the same respect and the same loyalty he gives to the colors. He made reference to amendments, but did not particularly specify the eighteenth, although his remarks were interpreted as largely referring to the Volstead act.

Raymond Kendall, of Pasadena, a nephew of R. R. Miles, of this city, offered the special musical feature of the program, entertaining with a piano solo. He is a pupil of Earl Fraser of this city.

Picnic And Dance June 29

It was announced by Cotton Mather, chairman of a special committee appointed to arrange for ladies' night, that a picnic and dance would be held in the county park on Monday evening, June 29. A sports program will start at 5 p.m.

Following adjournment of the meeting, the Kiwanians went through the Taylor cannery and witnessed the canning of cherries. Luscious cherries were offered the men as they passed through the establishment.

To many, the process of canning cherries was unknown and the equipment in the plant was the admiration of all.

W. K. Duffy and Tony Barrios catered for the dinner, serving chicken tamales and other choice foods.

Who's Who

OLIGER URGES HEAVY VOTE ON BONDS TUESDAY

ATER Election Declared
Of Greatest Importance To Santa Ana

By A. L. OLIGER
Secretary Chamber of Commerce
Voting the city water bonds next Tuesday is one of the most important civic items that has had the consideration of the citizens of Santa Ana in a decade. Good water one of the fundamentals that is considered by prospective citizens, and it is the one thing on which a city can either succeed or fail as a coming metropolis.

When tourists pass through our city and when visitors stop at the chamber of commerce, one of the first questions that is asked is "How's the water supply in Santa Ana?" Naturally, we endeavor to tell the truth, and it is a fact that Santa Ana has a good water supply at present, but if we expect a splendid city to grow and prosper we must deal with the question from a future viewpoint and prepare for the increased population is bound to come.

The water problem is properly considered and if the bonds are voted next Tuesday, it will permit us to advise the world that Santa Ana not only has a high grade water supply, but is prepared to take care of a population several times our present size. This will be good advertising for our community and the city that is not advertising itself nowadays is the village that has failed to meet present-day competition between cities and as a result remains a village.

The chamber of commerce has gone on record as approving the action of the city council in developing Santa Ana's water supply at this time and our board of directors sincerely hopes that every thinking individual will cast his or her vote on the water bonds. If we get out a large vote, the decision will be much more satisfactory than if a light vote is cast. It is a problem that we are all interested in and surely it is worthy of the time and effort to cast a vote. Every citizen should give the matter serious consideration and vote for the water bonds, Tuesday, June 23, for the good of Santa Ana.

The first of five de luxe motor coaches to be built by the O. H. Egge company, of Santa Ana, for Sutherland stages, San Diego, was completed and sent to Los Angeles.

The coach is of the new observation car type, painted the latest blue and tan, and is called the observation Fagocel sedan. Its 24 specially made chairs have deep leather cushions. Wide plate-glass windows are decorated with silk curtains. At each seat, there is a smoker's set and a wall light with a pretty hand-painted shade. The coach is carpeted in harmony with its general color scheme. Many features of the coach were designed by the Egge company.

The observation character of the coach is heightened by the now popular iron grill that encircles the rear of the rounded body, protecting it from marring bumps as well as adding to appearances. Iron work is also used on the roof as a guard for baggage.

The five de luxe coaches, when delivered to Sutherland stages, will take their place as the last word in observation car excellence, in a state where tourist service has seen its highest development.

To Be Radiocast

The special train carrying California realtors to the 18th annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, in Detroit, will arrive in Detroit this day morning, the day the meeting is called to order by President Charles G. Edwards, of New York City, according to word received here from the California Real Estate association.

Thirty realty boards of this state, including the Santa Ana organization, will be represented at the big Detroit gathering.

Heading the realtors is D. Richard Ainsley, Fresno, president of the state association, who is on the program for a speech.

The California delegation has its musical herald the widely known glee club of the San Francisco board. Approximately 150 realty men and their wives are aboard the train now speeding toward the automobile city. Seats are to be made at various cities enroute.

This year's convention promises to be one of the most successful in the history of the organization, according to reports.

STATE LEADS IN REALTY MEMBERS

According to figures received here today by the Santa Ana Board of Realtors, California continues to have the largest membership in the National Association of Real Estate Boards, having a total of 3000 members. Illinois is second with 1956. Other memberships are: New York, 1890; Florida, 1573; Pennsylvania, 1334; Ohio, 1444; New Jersey, 1066; Michigan, 839; Indiana, 678; Missouri, 657.

California is represented by 87 national boards, all of which, except the boards at Los Angeles, Oakland and San Francisco, were induced to join the national association through the organization work of the California Real Estate association.

The national association now has 20,300 members. The Chicago board is the largest and oldest, having 1,218 brokers. The Los Angeles board is second, with an enrollment of over 700.

In total membership, including activities, associates and salesmen, Chicago also leads, having 2485; New York City is second with 1746 and San Francisco is third with 1510.

The California Real Estate association's news letter has carried a story, and the national association's medium is expected to follow suit.

SAYS TOURISTS WILL CONTINUE TO COME HERE

California still retains her charm and people will continue coming here, in spite of the propaganda which has been spread in certain sections of the country, declares Freeman H. Bloodgood, local realtor, and chairman of the legislative committee of the California Real Estate association.

Bloodgood personally knows of three persons, visitors here, who plan to come back to stay.

Oscar Heiserman, a jeweler of Bloodgood's old home town, West Union, Ia., is "sold" on the state and will return here as soon as he can dispose of his business, according to the local man, who met Heiserman at the Iowa picnic here last Saturday.

Heiserman is enraptured with California and thinks there is no place like it," said the realtor to the reporter. "He told me that he hopes to be back here just as soon as he can dispose of his business in Iowa."

Bloodgood became acquainted with another California convert at the picnic, Edward Livingston, of Chicago, but formerly of Des Moines. The Chicago man also expects to return here when he sells his business, Bloodgood says.

The realtor is in receipt of a letter from Mrs. Ellis L. Enches, written in Minneapolis. Mrs. Enches was a visitor here, but returned a short time ago.

According to the letter, the dirt and filth of the east as compared with the cleanliness of California made her eager to return here as quickly as possible.

These are but three instances, and I am sure that other realtors know of as many if not more cases where people with eastern interests plan to sell out their holdings and return here."

YOST TONIGHT

Richard Barthelmes' mother, Mrs. Caroline Barthelmes, is a frequent visitor at her famous son's New York studio. Indeed, much of his success has been due to his mother's encouragement and untiring aid.

Mrs. Barthelmes, as Caroline
Harris, was a prominent actress on the speaking stage for many years. During these years, young Richard attended military school, although he always spent his vacations with his mother, no matter where her theatrical engagements had taken her. In this way, Dick actually grew up in the atmosphere of the stage.

Mrs. Barthelmes has, from her son's first acting days, maintained a series of scrapbooks in which every newspaper item mentioning him is carefully pasted and catalogued. These scrapbooks constitute a remarkable record of endeavor and achievement, the day-by-day history of a famous star's progress from extra parts to the heights.

"New Toys," Barthelmes' newest picture, opens a three-day engagement at the Yost theater tonight.

ALL-STAR CAST FEATURED IN "ADVENTURE"

The acting, alone, in "Adventure," the picture now showing at the West End theater, is sufficient to lift this film out of the mediocre class. Which should occasion little wonder, since Victor Fleming, the producer, has assembled a formidable cast featuring such sterling favorites as Tom Moore, Pauline Stark, Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton. Even the minor parts are portrayed by players of skill and experience as Walter McGrail, Duke
Kahanamoku, famous international Hawaiian swimmer, James Spenser and Noble Johnson.

Those who are familiar with the works of Jack London, will recall "Adventure" as a South Sea tale, dealing with the stirring experiences of a young plantation owner on one of the savage and remote Solomon Islands, who is aided in his struggle against nature, cannibals and unscrupulous white men, by a mysterious and daring girl, who visits that out-of-the-way place in search of adventure.

There is action aplenty and thrills galore. The players have entered into the spirit of the story with a vim and a vigor that keep things humming from the dramatic beginning to the fighting finish. Tom Moore has a role very much to his liking and gives a strenuous account of himself; Pauline Stark is a picturesque character as a woman soldier of fortune; Wallace Beery lightens his villainy with comedy moments; and Raymond Hatton wins new laurels with his characterization.

THE REJECTED WOMAN"
AT WALKER'S

The feature picture at Walker's theater tonight will be the much talked about "The Rejected Woman," bringing together for the first time such popular players as Wyndham, Conrad Nagel and Wyndham. Standing. The drama itself is bound to be of great appeal, dealing with the problem of beautiful women and beautiful clothes and their relation to each other.
Also appearing in the picture are Leontine Hughes, internationally celebrated dancer and beauty, and a group of wealthy New York society men and women. Many of the scenes are actually reproductions of such institutions of luxury as Sherry's famous restaurant in Park avenue, the Hotel Ambassador and the steamship "Paris."

"The Rejected Woman," written by John Lynch, is a story of the gay and brilliant life of a rich
New York man, and of the realization of the poor girl who loves him and that she can never win his love in return without the expensive finery and culture of the women in his set. These things she must have, because the love of this man is vital to her very existence. How she goes about the acquisition of her love campaign, and the price she pays form the basis of an absorbing drama, swift-moving in its action and illuminated by vivid flashes of the inner life of New York's wonderful Park avenue crowd of jazzy youngsters.

May Unearth Old
Obelisk In Rome

ROME, June 18.—Rome will see another magnificent and very ancient Egyptian obelisk added to the 15 which for centuries have been adorning its streets and squares, if the incitation by the press and the archaeologists is heeded by the municipal administration or the direction of the Fine Arts and Monuments department.

The obelisk, the unearthing of which the lovers of antiquities are clamoring for, is laying at a depth of no more than seven or eight metres across Giustiniani street, underneath a thick layer of mortar and masonry which supports the aqueduct conveying water to the main fountain in Navona Square, perhaps Bernini's most beautiful work after his Trevi fountain.

The medieval historian, Rossini, who saw the obelisk in 1693, described it as one of the largest among those preserved in Rome, and richly decorated with numerous relief figures and hieroglyphics.

Expert excavators of antiquities hold that the obelisk could be brought to light with a comparative ease and at a small cost without the necessity of tearing down any building or altering the aqueduct.
A number of newspapers are suggesting that the obelisk be raised in one of the streets of modern Rome to the memory of the soldiers fallen in the world war.

Think Kellogg Note Handicap To Ambassador

MEXICO CITY, June 18.—Americans here are expressing themselves as convinced that the statement of warning to Mexico by American Secretary of State Kellogg has probably handicapped Ambassador Shefield for the future.

Some question is raised whether Shefield, who is highly regarded here, knew in advance the full import and tone of the Kellogg message.

While the Kellogg incident still occupies many minds here, President Calles issued authorization of partition of 100,000 hectares of land in Lower California, held by an American company for farming purposes. The land involved is known as the "Colorado river hand."

PRISON GUARD CONFESSES TO DOPE RUNNING

STOCKTON, June 18.—That counterfeiting and narcotic running has been carried on with inmates of Folsom prison was confessed by Henry P. Welch, a prison guard, according to police and federal authorities here today. Incidents against Welch, Frederick Brown and Emil Cordy, are being asked.

Welch was arrested after he had bought metal from a Stockton hardware store. Dies for making 50-cent pieces were found in his baggage.

A tailor's form, stolen from Folsom, which Welch attempted to pawn, led to an investigation at the Prison yesterday. Cordy, the alleged counterfeiter, is said to have become suspicious of an investigation, and turned the outfit over to Welch. Brown was the go-between for passing both the coins and dope in and out of the prison, according to the officers.

GOVERNOR STANDS BACK OF JOHNSON

SACRAMENTO, June 18.—After nearly a week of silence in the controversy which has arisen in the office of State Superintendent of Banks John F. Johnson, Gov. Friend W. Richardson today issued a statement expressing utmost confidence in his appointee.

The charges made against Johnson by his discharged deputy, Sigismund J. Janas, and his attorneys, and the rumors that Johnson had been asked to resign, were classed by the governor as "pure bunkum."

The governor's statement follows:

"I have known the superintendent of banks for many years and know that he has the prime mainly attributes of honesty and courage."

"His chief purpose has been to protect the people who have deposited their savings in the state banks and to prevent them from suffering loss. To do this, he has had to make a hard and determined fight against crooks and rascals of various character, who naturally and to his credit enter into his defense."

"Johnson's wise and courageous action in the matter of the Valley bank of Fresno, prevented the closing of that bank and its eight branches and the precipitation of one of the worst financial calamities that could have fallen upon the state."

"The rumor that he has been asked to resign is pure bunkum invented by criminals and crooks who desire to discredit him. The people who have money deposited in state banks can be assured that Johnson will continue to use his best and first efforts for their protection."

In an argument with Attorney Sanders, irrigation district counsel, Judge Conkling remarked, in reference to the attorney's hint that the city's ability to purchase water should be considered, that the city was not required to buy water to evade the necessity of developing it.

Attorney Crouch, associate of Sanders, called attention to Mayor Bacon's statement that the city water system has a capacity of 50,000,000,000 gallons, and his estimate of loss by evaporation combined with consumption by the city. The mayor's own figures, Crouch said, indicated that the city's system, if full, would provide a supply lasting 11 years, even without rainfall.

"But the system isn't full, unfortunately," the mayor answered.

The defense introduced reports of Engineer Freeman and other experts, with reference to the attorney's hint that the city's ability to purchase water should be considered, that the city was not required to buy water to evade the necessity of developing it.

A clipping from a San Diego morning newspaper, which quoted the mayor, during the El Capitan bond issue campaign, as commenting unfavorably upon El Capitan site, was shown to the witness, who admitted the statement was correct.

"But," he said, "conditions and circumstances have greatly changed since then. Were they the same now, I would probably express the same sentiments."

Bridge and Tube Project Proposed

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18.—Plans for a $60,000,000 bridge and tube project to connect San Francisco with the east bay shore at Oakland were presented to the board of supervisors here with request for a franchise.

Plans call for a tube 50 feet deep, extending 3000 feet into the bay from the foot of Folsom street, and a bridge from the tube's end to a point between the Western Pacific and Southern Pacific moles on the Oakland shore.

The proposal includes highway and electric and steam train tracks, said James M. Oliver, attorney, representing the petitioners.

Favorable committee action was expected so that the plan might come before the entire board.

W. C. T. U. Objects To Opening Of Mexican Resort

SAN DIEGO, June 18.—Representatives of the W. C. T. U. of Imperial county, have protested to the county supervisors against the opening of a third resort on the Mexican border for thirsty Americans. The action is aimed at a proposed "light wine and beer town," near Jacumba, San Diego county. The W. C. T. U. members said they considered Tia Juana, Mexicali and Tecate to be enough drinking resorts for Southern California.

LOS ANGELES, June 18.—All existing records for volume of construction work under way in the United States during a single month were shattered in May, according to statistics compiled by the Associated General Contractors of America. The May volume was 26 per cent greater than that of April, reflecting the greatest volume of contracts during the two preceding months. The amount of construction activity in the first five months of this year is being taken as an indication that 1925 will set a new 12-month record.

The volume of building contracts during April was the greatest for any month in any year on record, exceeding the previous high mark set in the preceding month by 11 per cent. Contracts during the first four months of 1925 exceed those awarded during corresponding period of 1924 by 8 per cent.

Building permits issued during April showed an increase of 20 per cent over March. The combined volume of building permits issued during the first four months of 1925 is 4 per cent less than the corresponding 1924 figure.

The average wage paid in the building trades in the principal construction centers of the United States showed no change from the April mark during May. There has been no change in this average since January. The average price paid by contractors for construction materials declined one point during May, lower prices for lumber and brick in several localities being chiefly responsible.

Contracts awarded in Southern California for the first five and a half months of 1925 is approaching the high mark set in 1923, which holds the record for the volume of construction, according to data compiled by the Southern California chapter of the association.

20 Boys Welcome MacMillan's Ship

WISCASSET, Me., June 18.—Twenty small boys had the thrill of their lives at 7 a.m. today, when they stood on the dock and watched MacMillan's arctic ship Peary dock here on its arrival from Boston.

They and the crew of the steamer Bowdoin, also of the MacMillan expedition, formed the only reception committee for the Peary, a contrast to the departure from Boston yesterday, when throngs bade farewell and whistles in the harbor sounded salutes.

The Bowdoin was the only other ship in this lonely little harbor when the Peary steamed into port. Missing Pomona Men Sought In L. A. Chinatown

LOS ANGELES, June 18.—The maze of Chinatown's streets and alleys was searched to day for trace of Marvin J. Gilarday, 27, and "Bud" Copeland, 17, of Pomona, why mysteriously disappeared on May 25.

Gillarday and Copeland dropped from sight following a trip here from Pomona in an automobile. Their deserted machine was found in an alley in Chinatown.

Gillarday's wife became alarmed at the continued absence of her husband and reported the disappearance to officers last night.

The automobile was stripped of its accessories and bore marks of hard usage.

"Of him the noblest epitaph may be written—

"His state, his country are better for his life."

GERM BRIE OFFER TOLD IN COURT

Lynch asked the witness to speak louder.

"The next I saw Shepherd," Faiman continued, "he told me he was guardian of a boy named Billy McClinton."

At mention of Billy's name, the jurors leaned far forward in their seats, anxious to catch each word.

Shepherd appeared wearied of Faiman's story and closed his eyes.

"When things began looking strange to me," Faiman testified, "I told Shepherd that, if there was to be anything irregular, I had to be protected financially. He said I would be taken care of."

"After several more conversations, Shepherd told me his plans were all laid—that he was going to give the boy typhoid germs in water. I had told him that was the safest way."

ALL WHITE!

—is the Modern Bathroom

There need not be a single discordant note of color in your bathroom. The Ever - White SANI - SEAT for toilets puts an end to painted or varnished affairs that homes have "gotten along with" for so long.

The SANI-SEAT stays white, too, nothing to discolor or corrode. It's CLEAN! and stays clean.

The cost is nothing when you consider appearance alone.

ROTARY CHIEF SEES NEED FOR WORLD SERVICE

PARIS, June 18.—Deputy Franklin Bouillon knocked out Communist Deputy Doriot after the latter's followers had broken a glass door to the foreign committee room of the chamber, when they had been barred from hearings on the Moroccan situation.

A general stir against the nation that accepts the challenge of world service and prefers humanism's advancement to the roar of conquering guns is assured of an earthly immortality, so asserted Everett W. Hills, president of Rotary International, in an address before its annual convention in Cleveland.

In serving best his home and his homeland, man serves best the world, Hill said, "remembering that a world brotherhood is composed of peaceful homelands linked together in but a larger and stronger bond of social and moral standards."

"But when home ties are snapped by the strong winds of destiny when marriage is converted into mere social convenience, when childhood is frozen by parental indifference, when the name of God is never mentioned in reverence by the firesides of a modern age, then civilization is headed straight for the maelstrom, and over, every capital and nation there will hang a doom heavier than the burden of Babylon."

Spirit of Intolerance
The spirit of intolerance has successfully defied the exorcism of all true charity, Hill continued. He said that no longer is the right of conscience freely conceded or the innate rights of men unchallenged.

"No one can deny the virtue of acquisition, but no one can defend the wrong of unrestricted greed. All nations must be taught the unspeakable evil of exploiting helpless and needy peoples, whether such exploitation takes the form of war or commercial supremacy.

Rotary can hold before the eyes of all nations the high example of unselfish service and teach an erring world that undeserved profits can never be the best that human life affords.

Spirit of Repression
"We find in the ghastly backwash of the war era the spirit of repression, passion and revenge. No matter how free man may be the charter of a nation, it is no longer easy to gain a respectful hearing. Into the market and the forum we have transplanted the bitterness of the camp, and refused too often to concede the right to contrary opinion. If this evil cannot be entirely eradicated, it must be reduced to a minimum. Herein will Rotary find abundant opportunity for the manifestations of its teachings.

"We must tear selfishness from our lives. Selfishness will not receive its mortal challenge until we conquer self. Too many of us profit by our failure to give full value for citizenship, and for life itself. We take all; we give nothing. We know not the meaning of service.

"The spirit of intolerance on the part of any Rotarian, any community, and nation is in direct opposition to our fundamental truths. Let us fight it with an understanding and compassion. Understanding is the foe of intolerance."

More Than 4000 People Dance On Tustin Streets

TUSTIN, June 18.—More than 4000 people last night attended the eighth annual street dance staged here by the Knights of Pythias lodge. The dance, according to lodge officials there, was the most successful ever staged.

Members of the lodge were busy today cleaning off the street. Fire hose was brought into play to wash the slippery borax chips from the pavement to prevent automobile accidents. Concessions of various descriptions and the band stand were also taken down this morning. Roy Smith was the chairman of the committee in charge of the dance.

Where Is Kline?
Police Have Car
To Present Him

Who and where is F. R. Kline? Santa Ana police have good news for him, if he can be found.

An automobile belonging to him has been recovered in Sacramento, and two men, charged with stealing the car, are under arrest, according to a telegram received from the chief of police there, Chief Claude Rogers, today.

The registration card found in the car was made out to Kline, with a Santa Ana address. So far, police have been unable to locate Kline, or to find anyone who knows him here.

BLUE EXPECTS TO INCREASE ROW OF WINS

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW LONDON, Conn., June 18.—Yale, riding the waves of a remarkable string of athletic successes, is looking forward to another signal triumph over the ancient foe, Harvard, in the annual crew race on the Thames river tomorrow.

Wearily old grads, dignified seniors and fresh freshmen, sporting all the blue ribbons that could be found in this small town's warehouses, strutted around and chortled, "won't it be terrible for Harvard tomorrow?"

The west has grown out of the old reverence for eastern athletics, especially those that pertain to Yale and Harvard but there is no event on the national sport calendar that can compare with the color and spectacular trimmings of a Yale-Harvard boat race under good conditions.

The two big ones of the "Big Three" have good crews even if they do look slightly bored when mention is made of the seven other college eights that are going to row at Poughkeepsie Monday for the intercollegiate championship.

Yale will tell you "we don't care about championships as long as we can kick waves in the face of Harvard."

Harvard men can't boast much about the very recent past of the Harvard crews but they insist tomorrow will start Harvard on a run of prosperity.

VIRGIL ELLIOTT RETURNS TO H. B. HOME AFTER SUCCESSFUL TRACK YEAR IN EAST

Junior Chamber Indoor Team To Play at Orange

Virgil Elliott, former Huntington Beach star track athlete, is back home covered with honors won during his first year at little Bethany College, West Va.

Some of his experiences in the East were related by the Beach boy during a light workout with Howard Paul, local high school athlete, yesterday afternoon at the Santa Ana high school oval.

Elliott expects to return to Bethany next September to resume his theological studies. This summer the track star is to work in the oil fields at Huntington Beach.

During the year at Bethany, Elliott has taken interest in events he didn't enter while at the Huntington Beach high school. He is tossing the javelin more than 160 feet and is pole vaulting around 11 feet, 6 inches.

Not yet has he broken his mark of 23 feet, 8-7/8 inches in the broad jump made while attending Huntington Beach school. However he has clipped his time in the 100 yard dash to 9.9 seconds.

Bethany College, with its student body of less than 300, before this year was scarcely known among the Eastern schools. But this season saw a change. The college captured third in both the conference and the W. and J. inter-collegiate track meets.

Tommy will be in the oil fields at Huntington Beach.

Because of commencement exercises at the high school here the Southern California league indoor baseball game between the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Orange teams will be played at Orange instead of at Poly field tomorrow night. The Orange-Santa Ana contest later in the season consequently will be played here.

"Tex" Bergman, the Excelsior Creamery pitcher, will start on the range for the locals. Captain Horace Snow announced. Babcock will be on the receiving end with the rest of the club lining up as follows: Walters, lb; E. Lutz, 2b; Scott, 3b; Wilcox, rs; Echols, ls; Cole, lf; Nelson, rf; Jerome, rr. Snow, Angell, Hitt, J. Lutz and Bill Fernandez will be on the reserve list.

Los Angeles, June 18.—Balked in his effort to land a welter-weight championship fight between Mickey Walker and Dave Slade, Jack Doyle, veteran boxing promoter of this city, today turned his attention to the bantamweight division.

Doyle is now negotiating for a title match between Charley Rosenberg, the 118-pound champion, and Bud Taylor, of Terre Haute. Taylor has made himself a big card here by his victory over Jimmy McLarin and his knockout of Ernie Goozeman, a San Diego featherweight who went 12 fast rounds with Kid Kaplan.

In response to an offer from "Wad" Wadham, Doyle's matchmaker, Rosenberg telegraphed from New York today that he is willing to accept a Labor Day date with Taylor here. Doyle is said to have offered him a guarantee of $20,000 for the match.

Hoppe, for years and years, was the champion balkline player of the world. His position was secure, his rivals were few and his name was established. He had no real competition until Young Jake Schaeffer decided to settle down and play billiards. Schaeffer took the title away from Hoppe and Hoppe came back and defeated Schaeffer. Last winter Schaeffer again beat Hoppe and now holds the title.

Hoppe apparently went stale on the balkline game. He had too much of it and it was getting his nerves. Realizing perhaps that he was through as a balkline player, Hoppe turned to the three-cushion game.

Last year Hoppe defeated Bob Cannefax, the three-cushion champion, and in a return match recently Hoppe won again. They went to Chicago for a third match and Cannefax practically threw in the sponge when he drew a knife from his pocket and slashed the cloth on the table. He complained that the cloth was too slow for him and he took the drastic method of forcing Hoppe to agree to a new cloth. Hoppe refused to continue.

Sheriff Blake doubled in the ninth inning and came in with the run that won his own game for the Cubs against the Phils, 5 to 4.

COOLIDGES TO SPEND SUMMER IN BAY RESORT

BEVERLY, Mass., June 18.—With President Coolidge establishing the nation's summer capital on the north shore at Swampscott and with many foreign embassies and legations to be represented in the pretty towns skirting the shore, there is a promise of the liveliest season in that famous Massachusetts district since the war days.

Already, many of the noted estates are being put in readiness for opening and by mid-June there will be few shuttered cottages. White Court at Swampscott is to be the summer White House this season and Swampscott and neighboring communities are expectant of a big season.

Hotels all the way from Nahant to the tip end of Cape Ann report splendid prospects with the mid-summer season the busiest in many years. The president and his family will mean much, as it did in the days of the Taft administration, when Beverly was the summer capital.

Famous for Clubs
There is promise of more New York people spending the summer along the north shore than in any season for a decade and many of the New York colonists who are cottage owners are already here for the summer. The north shore is famous for its country clubs, with Myopia, Essex county, Tebisco, and Nahant known throughout the country because of their good golf courses, tennis courts and polo fields.

Coming of the Coolidges will bring much activity in yachting. With Rockport again established as a naval rendezvous, things will take on a pre-war aspect from the racing interest point of view.

Mrs. William H. Moore, of New York, has her Rockport estate at Pride's Crossing, with its wonderful gardens, ready for occupancy. Nearby Mrs. Henry Clay Frick and Miss Helen Frick are to spend the summer in their Eagle Rock estate, one of the show places of the north shore.

Others Occupy Estates
Judge David Leverett is to be at the Farms again this summer, as are Mr. and Mrs. E. Lawrence White. The Martin Erdmans, of New York, have taken the Coolidge homestead at Magnolia. The F. Meredith Whitehouses, of New York, are to occupy their Manchester cottage. Capt. Adolphus Andrews, commander of President Coolidge's yacht, the Mayflower, has taken a cottage for his family at Little's Point, in Swampscott.

The Francis R. Appletons and the Gerald Livingston Hoyts, of New York, will be, as usual in Ipswich for the long season. Orland Ronland and his family will be in the Lookout cottage in Marble Head. Joseph V. Santry is to have the Red Gate cottage in the Marble Head colony.

Gardens on the north shore are beginning to look attractive. Mrs. Calvin Coolidge has been elected honorary president of the Swampscott Garden club in the town where the Coolidges are to spend the summer.

Diplomats to Assemble
Flags of several foreign embassies and legations will fly from north shore cottages this summer. Baron von Maltzen, the new German ambassador, is to come to Magnolia where the embassy is to be established in the Hayden cottage. The Italian embassy is to be located in the Kaan cottage at Juniper Hill Beverly Farms. Baron Iacomo De Martino and his family plan to come to the north shore early next month.

The British embassy will again be established in Manchester. Sir Esme Howard, the ambassador, is to spend the summer in Switzerland with his family. The Siamese legation is to be at Bass Rocks as it has been for several summers and many others of the Washington diplomatic set are planning for summer sojourns on the north shore.

U. S. Preparing for Attack On Mexico, Charge

MOSCOW, June 18.—The government organ, Investia, charged today that American "imperialism" is preparing for an attack on Mexico.

This, the paper suggested, was behind Secretary of State Kellogg's Mexican warning, adding:

"American imperialism wants to justify in advance a possible attack on Mexico and explain in advance the readiness of the American government to support a counter revolutionary movement which doubtless will be organized in Mexico, aided by American money and instructors."

Sermon On Snakes Attracts Reptile

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., June 18.—Rev. R. Wittenberg had realism in a sermon here recently. He selected from Genesis and the text was based around:

"Now the serpent was more subtle than any beast of the field which the Lord God had made."

The sermon was at an open air meeting and as the Rev. Wittenberg spoke a black snake unclosed in a tree overhead.

Members of the audience clubbed the reptile to death and Wittenberg went on with his sermon.

BREA SEWAGE DISPOSAL PLAN TO BE TALKED

New Stage Depot To Be Built In Fullerton Soon

FULLERTON, June 18.—Work on a new stage depot for the Motor Transit company will begin here at once, it was announced yesterday, with a portion of the Hiltzsch building, on West Commonwealth avenue, named as the new headquarters.

A large store room, adjacent to an alley, is the site selected for the new headquarters, and will be renovated in order to allow the large busses to enter the building, and make their exit through the alley.

Ample space will be provided within the building for ticket offices and a waiting room with additional space for other business, if it is considered desirable. That no possible objection would be raised to the plan was decided at the regular meeting of the city council last night, when that body endorsed the plan.

ORANGE MERCHANTS TO PICNIC JULY 22

ORANGE, June 18.—The annual merchants' picnic, sponsored by the Merchants and Manufacturers' association, will be held at the Orange County park Wednesday, July 22, it was decided by the committee at a meeting held at the chamber of commerce.

Only one change in the original plan was adopted by the committee, that concerning the afternoon closing. After considerable discussion, it was decided to limit the picnic to the evening and abandon plans for closing the stores at noon.

The committee, which is composed of S. V. Mansur, Ed. Chapman, Ray McCarthy, Al Huhn and A. D. Burkett, urged the change on the score that in all probability the afternoon closing could not be made unanimous.

Under the revised plans, the picnic will start at 6:30 o'clock with a barbecue dinner, consisting of baked Virginia ham, potato salad, beans, coffee, rolls, ice cream and wafers. Following the dinner, the pavilion will be thrown open to dancing for those who desire, while other forms of entertainment will be provided for those who do not play the light fantastic.

The committee which will have charge of the dinner arrangements, was named as follows: Ray McCarthy, Claude Ellis, L. F. Robinson and A. M. Akin.

ALLEGED BURGLARS ARE HELD IN JAIL

Redden home at 520 East Broadway. He pleaded not guilty to the charge. However, since some clothing found in his home was identified as that which was stolen from the Redden home, he was held to appear for trial.

G. Bustillos, arraigned with Baiza on a similar charge, pleaded guilty and was held for the superior court. His bail was set at $500 which he was unable to furnish, so he was sent to the county jail.

Picnic Grounds Added to Park

ANAHEIM, June 18.—Picnic grounds are the latest addition to Anaheim's city park, an extensive grass plot having been equipped with tables and benches for the service of the visitors to the municipal playground. In the center of the site will be erected large ovens for steak bakes.

A number of pepper trees, which grow rapidly, have been planted for shade, and in future years the place will be completely shaded by the huge oaks which were planted there at the opening of the park.

Everybody notices the boss' flurry and a general search commences in desk drawers and among the knick-knacks in the trays—because who can go ahead with his work when the boss needs an important thing like a paper clip?

BAND STAND IN PARK APPROVED GRADUATE FROM BY CITY BOARD ORANGE SCHOOL

ORANGE, June 18.—Coming as the closing chapter in their high school lives, 83 students, representing the 1925 graduating class of Orange high school, will receive their diplomas tonight at commencement exercises to be held at the school auditorium.

Despite the joy expressed over receiving their sheepskins, the occasion is always tinged with a sorrowful note for the graduates, who realize that they will pass through the school portals perhaps for the last time.

The exercises will start promptly at 8 o'clock, it was announced by F. A. Henderson, principal. An excellent program has been prepared and the large auditorium is expected to be filled to capacity by parents, relatives and friends of the graduates.

The principal address is to be delivered by Dr. Daniel F. Fox, pastor of the First Congregational church, Pasadena. He has chosen "The Seven Pillars of the Temple of Wisdom" as his theme.

Principal Henderson will then award the honors and present the class, after which C. A. Palmer, president of the school board, will award the diplomas.

The commencement exercises will open with an organ solo by Miss Edith Damewood, who will play "Chant Solennelle," by Vodorinski.

The invocation will be given by the Rev. Lucy Woodford, pastor of the Villa Park church.

A violin duet by Pauline Thompson and Paul Stoner will follow.

They will play "Badinage" and "Berceuse," by Cesare Cui. Following the principal address Cleona Strickland is to play an organ solo, "Legend of the Desert," by Stoughton.

Marjorie Caldwell will also give an organ solo, playing "Cantilene in A Flat," by Walstenholme.

The class hymn, with Percy Richards, high school musical instructor of the facade of the proposed city hall, showing the tower, which is felt to be a material improvement over designs heretofore submitted on this tower, being satisfactory to the directors both in design and cost. The act rescinds all previous motions insofar as they refer to the tower design.

The benediction will be given by the Rev. P. W. Clarkson, pastor of the Episcopal church, and the organ postlude, "Pomp and Circumstance," closing the exercises, will be played by Mr. Richards.

Our Neighbors

PASADENA.—With the cost of the city hall in the civic center set at an estimate of $1,030,000 and the prospective date for asking bids being after September 15, the city directors passed an ordinance authorizing architects to proceed with the working drawings of the building to the design and plan shown on June 5. The architects, Bakerwell and Brown of San Francisco, submitted a large scale perspective of the facade of the proposed city hall, showing the tower, which is felt to be a material improvement over designs heretofore submitted on this tower, being satisfactory to the directors both in design and cost.

BEACH MUSICIANS TO GIVE CONCERTS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 18.—Miss Nell Mitchell and Miss Lucille Harrell, local musicians, will leave the first of next week for Banning where they will present several concert numbers and visit relatives of Miss Harrell. Both of the girls are well known in musical circles here.

Miss Harrell is an excellent pianist, having played for several orchestras in the city. She is also an excellent soloist. Miss Mitchell, a natural musician, plays almost any instrument. She is proficient on the violin, banjo, harmonica and musical saw. Miss Mitchell has appeared before many of the clubs and civic organizations in entertainment numbers.

The two young girls make a good musical pair, and have a large variety of music and songs to offer their audiences. They will give their concert at the Municipal Auditorium upon their return from Banning.

Two Beach Men Narrowly Avert Serious Injury

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 18.—

Two people narrowly escaped serious injury here late Tuesday evening when their machines collided at the intersection of Orange avenue and Twenty Third street.

Officials of the British Columbia game board, in an effort to overcome the difficulty, have suggested that the flume idea, evolved by the biological survey of the United States, be tried out on the creek. This is the cutting of a flume through the beaver dam so that the water will not rise above a certain point on the theory that Mr. Beaver pays so much attention to his work that he never gives a glance upward. Though persistent as well as industrious, there is a limit to a beaver's patience and, finding that his dam does not succeed in holding the water back, he and his crew shift to some other place and begin home-making all over again.

The machine driven by Grace was turned completely over twice, landing right side up in a ditch. Both cars were nearly demolished.

The two men escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

STOP TRAFFIC FOR FULLERTON H.S. EXERCISES

FULLERTON, June 18.—Traffic on East Chapman avenue, between Pomona and Harvard avenues, will be stopped on Friday evening, between the hours of 5:30 and 8 o'clock, for the high school commencement exercises, according to a decision reached by the city council, following the request of Louis E. Plummer, principal of the high school.

In explanation of his request, Mr. Plummer said that the exercises would be held on the lawn in front of the school, and it was decided to make them as impressive as possible. Noise and traffic passing would be most disturbing, he said, and cooperation of the trustees was assured to avoid the difficulty.

Lions at Beach To Pick Officers

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 18.—With the election of officers facing them at their next meeting, members of the local Lions club yesterday engaged in general discussion over the coming election.

Dissatisfaction expressed at the present method of nominating officers by a nominating committee was the main point of the discussion.

Officers to be voted upon were nominated at the regular meeting last week, when a nominating board selected the candidates for the various offices.

C. P. Patton and W. R. Wright were the chairmen of the meeting yesterday. L. W. Blodget, vice president of the club, officiated in the absence of Clark H. Reid, president.

An excellent musical program was presented by a number of young people, including Miss Lucille Harrell, Gilbert Harrell, John Soden and Fred Furtach. Will Gallenne, local singer, also rendered several solo numbers.

Several visitors were present, including Phil Drane, former business man of this city, who now resides at Inglewood, and C. F. Crawford of the Santa Ana Register.

Chairmen for the next two meetings were appointed by Blodget at the close of the meeting. James Morris and John Barlow will be the chairmen June 24, and for the week following, Robert Peters, and Bert Gottard will be in charge.

COMMENCEMENT DAY

Tomorrow is commencement day at the Santa Ana High school, when a hundred and twenty-five young men and women will receive their diplomas.

What will these diplomas mean to these young people? What is their conception of education, of citizenship, of life? Do they realize that all the years of their school days, with their work and play, their joys and sorrows, their trials and tribulations; all the pomp and glory of commencement day; all their memories of the past and all their plans and hopes and dreams of the future—do they realize that all these, unless they be spiritualized with high ideals, are but as “sounding brass and tinkling cymbals?”

The men and women whom we love and honor, whom we rightly seek to emulate, whom we idolize, are men and women who have lived up to high ideals.

We do not remember and revere George Washington just because he told the truth; others have done as much. We do not remember him because he was a great general; there have been greater. We do not remember him because he was a great president; there have been other great presidents. We remember him because he dared to live up to great ideals.

“There are three kinds of people,” said J. I. Billman, of Kansas City, in a commencement day address, “that money cannot buy. One is the minister; you cannot buy Christian purpose. A second is the editor; you cannot buy influence. The third is the graduate; you cannot buy ideals.”

Ideals are of two kinds. One is the idol, that which stands still. The more preferable is the changing ideal. In earliest youth, the Jew’s-harp is the musical ideal. Later, it is the harmonica. And finally, it is the great organ and the orchestra. Each is a suitable ideal for its time but not for any other.

The ideal must spring from the heart. Paginanni, when advertised to play a costly violin before a New York audience, rendered a masterpiece on a cheap instrument purchased at a pawn shop; he demonstrated the real source of not only music but ideals.

Your diploma is two things. First it is a certificate that you have done certain things; that you have finished four years of high school work, that you have lived up to certain ideals. Secondly it is a ticket. But it is not a reserved seat ticket. You are going to have a scramble for your seat. And one of the important things for you to know is that you must try to find your work right where you are.

An air pilot fell 8,500 feet the other day and was unharmed. Nokomis who fell from the full moon and Lucifer who fell from Heaven better look to their laurels.

NEGRO RECOGNITION

Intelligent and capable negroes often say their race “never has a chance.” This is not altogether true. Often the negro does have a chance, and proves it in a way that surprises the discouraged ones.

Arthur Waller, a student in one of the high schools in Brooklyn, N. Y., has just been chosen president of the students’ association, by a vote of 900 out of 1400. He is colored, and the candidates he defeated are white. He was elected by white votes.

Waller seems to have earned the distinction. He must have earned it, to win so notably. Otherwise he could hardly have overcome the race prejudice which does exist, as a normal thing, in the mind of the average white boy or girl. He has proved himself an athlete, an orator, a good student and a good business man, apparently the “best all-round man” in his class. And with it all, he has conducted himself with becoming modesty, not presuming on his honors nor showing undue consciousness of his color.

“This could happen only in the North,” it will be said. Probably so, in this precise form of distinction. The South is more sensitive about any form of recognition for the black race which might seem to imply social equality. Yet in the South, too, there have been, and are now, many negroes arriving at genuine distinction and power, in business and professional life.

It is very largely a question of the way the gifted negro conducts himself—of tact and delicacy in dealing with the dominant race.

“At fifty,” someone has said, “a man is either a fool or a physician.” And if he has learned enough to play physician to himself, and lives up to it, people take him for a fool.

THE COFFEE STRIKE

The American “coffee strike” seems to be winning. Brazilian monopoly is foiled.

When the coffee growers of Brazil, aided by their government, regulated exports and created an artificial monopoly, coffee soared in price. It went up around 60 cents a pound retail in this country, and then the market bucked. The women who buy most of the coffee for American consumption started buying less coffee and more tea and cocoa and milk. The United States is the greatest coffee-drinking country. So Brazil was left with a vast surplus on its hands.

The inevitable happens. Even governments are not exempt from the law of supply and demand. Brazil will have to lower its price to sell its goods.

Then, of course, Americans will start drinking more coffee than ever, and before long the price will soar again. For the sake of the national purse and stomach both, it would be just as well if the strike lasted a while longer.

APPLAUSE AND SERVICE

A popular movie actor recently visited the dignified city of Toronto and was so enthusiastically welcomed by the public that some serious individuals were disturbed. They lamented that such unbounded admiration should be lavished on a mere screen-player when statesmen and other public benefactors are ignored.

American cities are more accustomed to big demonstrations of popularity for movie folk, baseball players and other idols whose heroism or service may be in comparison with their popularity.

It is not really such a deplorable thing as the lamenters imagine. Even if keen discrimination is not always shown by the crowd in its choice of a subject for admiration, no permanent injury is done to anybody concerned. The persons who appreciate greatness in statesmanship, literature, art, philosophy and true public service may be in the minority. They are also less demonstrative in their expression of approval. Furthermore, their heroes may be better satisfied by quietly expressed approval than by noisy acclaim. And finally, the great work they do is less interrupted and better served in the long run by the encouragement of understanding friends than by unrestrained applause.

Pleasures of Old Age

Moberly (Mo.) Monitor-Index.

Statistics gathered by life insurance companies show a steady increase in the average duration of human life in the United States. Disease is being mastered, fatal industrial mishaps are decreasing. There are some physicians who think that 100 years soon will be the allotted span of life instead of the three score and ten of the Psalmist. The health commissioner of New York City recently laid down some rules by following which he said one might reasonably expect to attain the century mark.

The Psalmist remarked that if “by reason of strength” the days of our years exceed three score and ten, “yet is their strength to labor and sorrow.” A different view is expressed, however, by some of the old persons whose experience is told in a study of old age made by Dr. G. Stanley Hall, formerly president of Clark University, himself an old man, and published under the title “Senescence, or the Last Half of Life.”

We are accustomed to look upon childhood and youth as the happiest periods of life, but age has its pleasures also. One of the most important of them is that derived from the ability to do things that were impossible earlier in life. There come increased opportunities for service and accomplishments as one advances in years. Experience points the way to deeds that the younger man or woman cannot perform. It is interesting to learn, too, from the answers made by old persons to a questionnaire sent out by Dr. Hall that some of them pass through an “Indian summer” of revived energy after the middle period of life was behind them.

Old age can be approached with equanimity. The experience of others indicates that it may be the most fruitful period of life.

Make Colorado River Useful

Pasadena Star-News.

Whatever differences of opinion may obtain as to how it should be done there is a commonality of conviction, throughout Southern California, that Colorado river must be dammed and controlled and its surplus waters must be utilized for domestic purposes in many municipalities of this Southland, while supplying irrigation needs in the great fertile valley which bears so much resemblance to the Nile and its alluvial plain.

Down the Colorado flows an immense volume of water, year in and year out. At flood season, enormous quantity of water is lost—overflowing and being evaporated, or rushing madly down to the sea, to be of no service to the region contiguous to the turbulent stream.

In the surplus waters of that great river lies the hope of future domestic water supply for Southern California. While developing local water supplies available to full extent, there is need of amplification of local supplies, which tapping the Colorado would give. This can be accomplished without interfering with the great irrigation and power projects which are in prospect when the Boulder Dam is built.

Preliminaries have advanced, in this great aqueduct project. But there is much to be done. There should be expeditiousness. The growing needs of this growing section will not brook dallying and delay. There should be the fullest co-operation from every quarter, to hasten the forming of a great metropolitan district based on terms and conditions fair and equitable to each and every municipality of the Southland.

Waller seems to have earned the distinction. He must have earned it, to win so notably. Otherwise he could hardly have overcome the race prejudice which does exist, as a normal thing, in the mind of the average white boy or girl. He has proved himself an athlete, an orator, a good student and a good business man, apparently the “best all-round man” in his class. The First Playground

The story of a sand pile, the cubic yard of builders’ sand that has grown into 8,115 play centers in the United States in forty years, is told by Weaver Pangburn in the July McClure’s. His article, “America Learns How to Play” is a fascinating review of the growth of the recreation idea in this country.

“Dr. Mary E. Zakrsewska returned from Germany to her home in Boston in 1885. In Berlin she had noticed heaps of sand in the parks, where children of both rich and poor played together under the supervision of elderly, kindly policemen. Dr. Zakrsewska told her friends about the sand piles. Mrs. Kate Gannett Wells, chairman of the executive committee of the Massachusetts Emergency and Hygiene association, heard of the idea. Mrs. Wells ordered a yard of sand dumped in the yard of the Parmenter Street Chapel and, the next day, on the lawn of the West End Nursery.

“A matron was on hand to tell the children what to do. It was not necessary for her to say a word. The children discovered the use of the sand as soon as it arrived.

“Such was the modest beginning of the American playground. The Boston sand pile was as epoch-making an idea as the Boston Tea Party. The one turned thirteen British colonies into thirteen United States. The other converted a cubic yard of sand into 8,115 play centers.

Playgrounds have materially reduced the number of traffic accidents. Judges, parole officers and social workers testify that well-directed park systems decrease juvenile delinquency and cite statistics to prove it.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

X-RAY WONDERS

Many important discoveries in modern medical treatment are the result of having the X-ray show the seat of infection.

If we eliminate such diseases as the eruptive fevers, smallpox, measles, diphtheria, typhoid fever, tuberculosis and syphilis, we find about 75 per cent of the other diseases are due to local infection in the mouth (teeth and tonsils) and the sinuses (both frontal and maxillary).

Dr. Rosenow of the Mayo Clinic has found this to be a fact. In his experiments he has reproduced in animals the diseases from which patients have suffered. By obtaining some of the material at the root of an infected tooth or from a macerated tonsil (after removal) he has injected it into an animal and produced the disease from which the patient was suffering.

High authorities in American medicine have predicted an increase in the longevity of the race during the coming generation of fully ten years. This is partly because the wonderful X-ray has shown the way. The public will be glad to aid in carrying out the practice of preventive medicine to further such humane results.

The actual cost of having an X-ray examination for your health and protection is small. But whatever its cost the value in locating infection is worth any price. Where the dental clinic is fully equipped, the charge is moderate for mouth tests.

If you are worrying on account of a break in your health that seems to baffle detection, by all means go to a first-class physician for a diagnosis. He may find that an X-ray test will help locate the cause of your trouble.

Owning of Home Good for Child

Pasadena Star-News

Own a home, if possible, for the benefit of your children. This thought is advanced by Will C. Wood, State Superintendent of Public Instruction. Mr. Wood points out that “migration of parents in California is keeping thousands of school children a year or more behind youngsters of similar age who live in permanent homes.” Constant moving, from one school district to another, retards the educational advancement of children, confuses them and in many instances discourages them with school life.

This is one of many sound arguments in behalf of owning one’s home. There are others equally as cogent and convincing. Ownership of a home makes it more like home. It anchors the affections and focuses interest. It creates an atmosphere that is conducive to peace and harmony and contentment.

There is the material side to be considered, too. Home ownership is economical. The money that is spent for rent, goes to one’s own account, increasing, each month, one’s equity. The saying, “pay rent to yourself,” may be trite—but it is weighty, economically.
